Saving Face on Vacation

When I threw a handful of All Terrain sample products into my suitcase, I intended to bring them home and test the samples in my own backyard. My Vancouver vacation was extended and I found myself sightseeing for hours everyday. Unprepared for an extended stay, I had no sunscreen or moisturizer - except the All Terrain product samples. The remedy rubs for feet and face allowed me more outdoor time in the cool but sunny climate. My tired feet and sun-exposed face quickly absorbed the healing, all-natural products. I'm glad I didn't have my usual cosmetic counter products and had to use the All Terrain samples. They were more soothing. Relief was instant.

Skin Saver Lotion moisturizes and nourishes the face and body after being outdoors. Recovery Rub relieves pain from sore muscles and joints, including arthritis. It quickly provides cool, deep penetrating relief. Check out the products designed for gardeners at: www.allterrainco.com

All Terrain products are designed for the "passionate high-performance user". Speaking as a gardener, the environmentally friendly, all-natural ingredient products are good for everybody. While you may never see me hang gliding or mountain climbing, All Terrain will always be in my suitcase. At this age, anything that can help me comfortably go and do more is a travel necessity.
