Jungle Armor

For a recent school trip to Costa Rica, parents were required to outfit their children with extreme insect repellent containing DEET—a perfect product review opportunity! Disregard the school's demand. Send a youth down to the tropical rain forests of Central America armed only with All-Terrain Herbal Armor Insect Repellent, which is totally DEET-free. Some would say this borders on child abuse, but the results of our south-of-the-border experiment were excellent. The product smells great and keeps massive amounts of insects at bay despite the fact that our tester normally attracts bugs like he's the last warm-blooded being alive...proving you don't have to bathe in a toxic substance to avoid being a mosquito's next snack.
